SEVERE WEATHER WARNING

Hyperlocal severe weather warnings that are delivered via text message and/or e-mail can assist customers in preventing or reducing property damage. Our research shows that customers who receive weather warnings take measures such as delaying travel, securing windows and parking cars in a safe location as a result of receiving communication.

- The name of your company appears as the sender
- Warnings are not automated, but prepared by meteorologists
- Locations are defined by post code areas and geo-coordinates
- Warnings are sent out in advance (48 hours to 30 minutes prior to the event)
- Issued 24 hours a day, 365 days a year

	WARNING LEVEL III
Acute warning: Extremely severe weather is forecast. Time and place can be clearly defined.
